Cool and windy conditions, with dark clouds promising rain, and the prospect of two laps of the valley course, probably put off some coming down on this evening. Those who did venture out found the blustery northwest wind meant for a challenging ride in parts but at least the return section to the finish was fast; and it stayed dry. Paul Beattie put in an excellent ride to be fastest, after almost failing to make the start after deciding to make adjustments to his bike, and needing the help of club mates to get it all back together.
